

Simple installation

This application is very easy to set up and it is suitable for many retail store configurations.

The volumes controllers are physically placed in two different areas but they can control any zone connected to the device.

The routing setting is equivalent to a 2 x 4 matrix. BGM and messages use only one input as well as the paging microphone which can be routed to any output with easy control action from the front panel or from the PC editor. Also, different programs can be broadcast in different zones if necessary with the use of additional sound sources.
